

Accommodation

Students will need to make their accommodation arrangements. Be advised that late September is a busy time in Melbourne with a number of major cultural and sporting events taking place. Accommodation can become difficult to find so you are advised to make your arrangements as early as possible.

Block reservations have been made at three hotels in order to secure some rooms at the budget end of the market. Please note that securing one of these reserved rooms is on a first-come first-served basis and is entirely the responsibility of individual students. The room reservations will lapse if you do not contact the hotels directly yourself by the dates specified below.

You are further advised that you will be subject to the rules and clauses of the individual hotels and any surcharges that may be added. Tagari Publications and the Permaculture Institute do not vouch for the standards or quality of the accommodation offered and accept no responsibility for any issues relating to accommodation. We have simply secured some options within a convenient travel distance from Trinity College which potential students may wish to avail themselves of. Further options are available via the internet and information on hotels can be gathered through websites such as Tripadvisor at www.tripadvisor.com.
